GMA may call special session over tax bills

By Juliet Lahog-Juellman
and Christine O. Arcandale

PRESIDENT Macapagal-Arroyo is inclined to call a special session of Congress to ensure the passage of four tax measures deemed necessary to avert a credit downgrade and a burgeoning budget deficit.

"I may have to call a special session," Ms. Arroyo told lawmakers editors and executives on Thursday.

But the Senate majority would prefer that marathon sessions were held in lieu of a special session in order to pass the tax measures Malacañang wants approved before the Christmas break.

Congress is set to go on Yuletide break from Dec. 17 to Jan. 10 next year.

The decision to hold marathon sessions was reached by the 14-member Senate majority in caucus yesterday, according to Majority Leader Francis Pangilinan.

Pangilinan said the majority wants to hold another caucus with the nine-member minority bloc today on the proposal under which the Senate would hold morning and afternoon sessions beginning today and from Monday to Thursday.

But this early, Pangilinan said some senators had expressed concerns about holding morning sessions because this would affect continuing hearings.

"As an alternative, maybe we could hold afternoon sessions that would last up to 9 or 10 p.m.," Pangilinan said in an interview.

Ms. Arroyo had said it was important for Congress to pass at least four of the eight revenue measures she had proposed to Congress before the year is over. She said the rest of the tax measures could wait until next year.

The President said the government could raise P90 billion from the package of eight new taxes to address the budget deficit and prevent its financial problems from becoming a full-blown fiscal crisis.

Congress leaders had promised to approve four tax measures this year—the excise tax on cigarettes and alcohol, the lateral attrition bill, the franchise tax on telecommunication companies, and the additional value-added tax on oil companies and professionals.

Anticipating the passage of the tax bills, Ms. Arroyo declared a few weeks ago that the country was getting out of the fiscal crisis.

Senate leaders had asked the President to call Congress to a special session but only to pass the 2005 national budget. The government is operating on an P804-billion budget that was reauthorized from 2003.

It's a breeze for DOT chief

By Michael Lim Ubac

PRACTICALLY, it's in the bag.

Tourism Secretary Joseph Durano is expected to be formally confirmed by the 25-member Commission on Appointments (CA) when it activates today for a plenary session.

In yesterday's confirmation hearing, the CA's members on tourism and economic development practically gave its nod to Durano's designation.

Durano is expected to subsequently relinquish his seat in the House of Representatives when he becomes a full-fledged member of the Cabinet of President Macapagal-Arroyo.

Even Sen. Richard Gordon, after lecturing Durano on the dynamics of the tourism business, moved to have the Cebu native confirmed.

"While we are all here, I would just like to put out that the secretary-designate has all the qualifications in terms of intelligence, youth—and I was once the youngest delegate to the Constitutional convention so that it should not be an issue—and therefore I see a lot of promise to him," said Gordon.

Surprisingly, nobody among the CA members present at the committee hearing grilled Durano on his dual position. He took the helm of the tourism department without resigning from the lower chamber.

Senate Minority Leader Aquilino Pimentel Jr. had raised this constitutional infraction, saying a member of Congress was barred from serving in the executive branch.

Apparently, Durano hesitated to resign from the House of Representatives so he could go back to the lower chamber should the CA fail to confirm his interim appointment.

Durano's designation, Pimentel said, had been largely seen as payback for providing a one million vote margin for Ms. Arroyo in the last presidential election.

New Ukraine elections seen likely

KIEV—A wide berth of election-related activities gathered in the Ukrainian capital on Wednesday, as the country's first round of presidential elections approached. The election is expected to be held on November 5, with a runoff on November 19.

Ukraine's President, Leonid Kuchma, is expected to run for a second term. He has been in office since 1999. Kuchma's main opponent is Viktor Yanukovich, a former prime minister who has been in the opposition since 2001. Other candidates include Petro Poroshenko, a former prime minister, and Yulia Tymoshenko, a former prime minister.

Ukraine's election system is a two-round system. In the first round, voters elect 49 members of the Verkh Rada, the Ukrainian parliament. The Verkh Rada then elects the president. The president's term is five years, and he or she can be re-elected once.

Figure 1 consists of four scatter plots arranged in a 2x2 grid. The top-left plot is for 1990, the top-right for 1995, the bottom-left for 2000, and the bottom-right for 2005. Each plot has 'Number of children' on the x-axis and 'Number of children not in school' on the y-axis. The data points are represented by small circles. A positive linear trend is visible in all plots, with the slope of the relationship appearing to increase from 1990 to 2005. The y-axis scale is 0 to 100, and the x-axis scale is 0 to 100.

5 Japan IT firms to locate in RP

By Ronald R. Singson

Five Japanese information technology companies are expected to set up offices in the Philippines within the next few months, according to a report by the Japanese Ministry of Economy, Trade and Industry (METI). The companies are: Fujitsu, Hitachi, NEC, Sharp and Sony. METI is part of a government initiative to attract foreign investment and create jobs in the Philippines. The report states that the companies are looking for skilled IT professionals and a favorable business environment. The Japanese government is providing support for these companies through various programs, including tax incentives and training for local workers. The companies are expected to bring with them advanced technology and expertise, which will help boost the Philippines' IT sector. The report also mentions that the companies are planning to hire local staff, which will create employment opportunities for Filipinos. The Japanese government is also working to improve the infrastructure and regulatory framework to make it easier for foreign companies to do business in the Philippines. The report is a positive sign for the Philippines' IT industry, which has been growing rapidly in recent years. It shows that the Philippines is becoming a more attractive destination for foreign investment, particularly in the IT sector. The companies' presence in the Philippines will likely lead to increased competition and innovation, which will benefit consumers and the economy as a whole. The report is a testament to the Philippines' growing reputation as a hub for IT and business in Southeast Asia.

PAI reflecting starts with new Airbus 320

By Ching A. Juan

Philippine Airlines (PAL) is expected to start its new Airbus 320 fleet with a new livery, reflecting the airline's commitment to modernization and service improvement. The airline is currently in the process of ordering several new aircraft, and the Airbus 320 is one of the models being considered. The new livery is expected to be unveiled soon, and it will feature a more contemporary design that aligns with the airline's branding. The Airbus 320 is a popular choice for airlines due to its reliability, fuel efficiency, and passenger capacity. PAL's decision to introduce this aircraft into its fleet is a strategic move to enhance its operational capabilities and provide a better travel experience for its passengers. The airline is also investing in training for its pilots and cabin crew to ensure they are well-equipped to handle the new aircraft. The new livery and aircraft are part of PAL's broader strategy to revitalize the airline and compete in the global market. The airline is confident that these changes will lead to increased passenger loyalty and higher flight revenues. The new Airbus 320 is expected to be delivered to PAL within the next few months, and the airline is looking forward to welcoming passengers on board the new aircraft. The new livery is a reflection of PAL's commitment to excellence and its vision for the future. The airline is excited to see the new aircraft in action and to hear from passengers about their experiences. The new Airbus 320 is a testament to PAL's dedication to providing the best possible service to its customers. The airline is proud to be a part of the Philippine aviation industry and to contribute to the country's economic growth. The new livery and aircraft are a source of pride for PAL and its employees. The airline is committed to maintaining its reputation as a leading carrier in the region and to providing a safe and comfortable journey for all its passengers. The new Airbus 320 is a key element of PAL's fleet expansion plan, and the airline is confident that it will be a successful addition to its operations. The new livery is a visual representation of PAL's commitment to innovation and progress. The airline is looking forward to a bright future and to continuing to serve the people of the Philippines and beyond. The new Airbus 320 is a symbol of PAL's resilience and its ability to adapt to changing market conditions. The airline is grateful for the support of its passengers and stakeholders, and it is committed to delivering the highest quality of service. # Sickness drove man to organic farming, pili oil

By Steve Korman, Boston

For most of his life, Steve Korman was a health-conscious man. He ate organic food, exercised regularly, and avoided processed foods. But in 2007, he was diagnosed with a rare form of cancer, and his health deteriorated rapidly. He was told he had months to live.

Heavenly harvest

Korman turned to organic farming as a last resort. He started growing vegetables in his backyard, and soon he was growing enough to eat. He found that the food he grew himself was much healthier than anything he could buy.

Can't wait

Korman's health improved, but he still had a long way to go. He started taking supplements, and he began to feel better. He was able to get back to work, and he was able to spend more time with his family. He was grateful for the chance to live again.

Steve's Market

Korman started a business called Steve's Market, where he sells organic food and other products. He is proud to be able to share his story and his love for organic food with others.

Banks get year-long grace period to adopt new accounting system

By Kenneth R. Brown

IF YOU'VE EVER BEEN A BANK, you know how difficult it is to change your accounting system. The process is so complex and time-consuming that it's often easier to just start over. But now, thanks to a new rule from the Federal Reserve, banks have a year-long grace period to adopt the new system. This is a huge relief for banks, as they can now take their time to get everything in order. The new rule is part of a larger effort to improve the accuracy and transparency of bank accounting. It's a good thing for everyone involved.

DOF: Balanced budget before
'09 'unrealistic'

By Kenneth R. Brown

The Department of the Treasury's proposal for a balanced budget for 2009 is a significant step forward. It shows that the government is committed to fiscal responsibility and reducing the deficit. However, some critics argue that the proposal is unrealistic, particularly in terms of spending cuts. They believe that the government needs to take more aggressive action to address the budget deficit. While the proposal is a good start, more work needs to be done to ensure a truly balanced budget for 2009.

214 stations now offer
discount on gas

Gas prices are a major concern for many drivers, and now there's good news. 214 stations across the country are offering discounts on gas. This is a great way to save money on one of the most essential expenses for many people. The discounts are available at a variety of locations, including major chains and independent stations. Drivers should look for signs or check the website of the relevant organization to find out more about the program. It's a simple way to save money and make your commute a bit easier.

Figure 1 displays a sequence of 16 grayscale images arranged in a 4x4 grid, illustrating the degradation of a handwritten digit '4'. The images are labeled with numbers 1 through 16. The degradation is caused by a combination of salt-and-pepper noise and a Gaussian blur kernel. The images show increasing levels of noise and blurring as the number increases.

UNDOING THE 'DIY' MYTH
The perception of a person as a do-it-yourselfer is not always accurate. In fact, many people who are labeled as DIYers are actually just people who are good at following instructions. The truth is, DIY is a very broad term that can encompass a wide range of activities, from simple home repairs to complex projects like building a house. The key is to understand what you are capable of and to seek out the right resources and support when you need it.

It's not always easy to know when to call in a professional. Sometimes, a DIY project can turn into a disaster if you don't have the right tools or knowledge. However, with a little research and a willingness to learn, you can tackle a wide variety of projects. The key is to start small and work your way up to more complex tasks. And remember, it's okay to ask for help when you need it. DIY is about taking control of your own life, not about doing everything on your own.

DIY FASHION

Art attack

Take the guesswork out of your wardrobe with a little creativity. DIY fashion is all about using your imagination to create unique pieces that reflect your personality. It can be as simple as painting a design on a plain t-shirt or as complex as creating a whole new outfit from scratch. The possibilities are endless, and the best part is that you can do it all at home.

By Pam Brown

THE first time I saw a DIY fashion project, I was blown away. It was a simple t-shirt with a hand-painted design, but it looked so professional and unique. I had never thought of myself as a creative person, but that moment inspired me to try it myself. I started with a plain white t-shirt and a few basic supplies, and within an hour, I had a brand new piece of clothing that was truly one-of-a-kind. It was a great feeling, and it opened up a whole new world of possibilities for me.

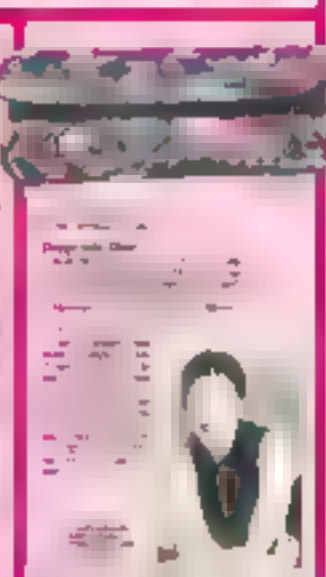

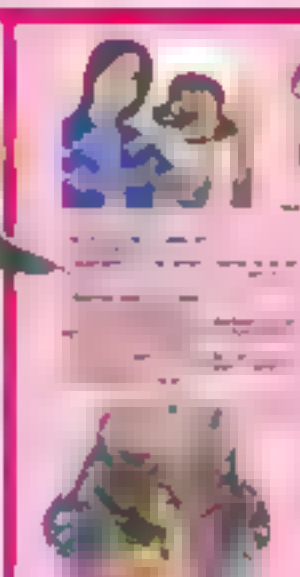

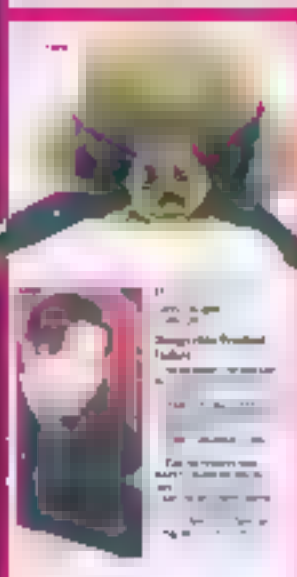

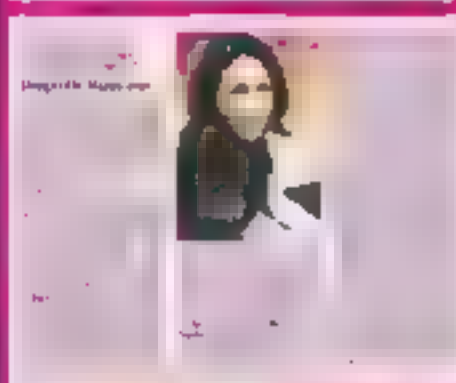

DIY fashion is not just about creating unique pieces; it's also about expressing your creativity and personality. It's a way to stand out from the crowd and to show the world who you are. Whether you're a seasoned pro or a beginner, there's always something new to learn and discover in the world of DIY fashion. So, grab your supplies and get started today. You'll be amazed at what you can create.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence

By Jennifer L. Smith

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.

Have a day that you can't wait to challenge your independence.
